DEATH OF KING LEOPOLD, OF BELGIUM.—By the last steamer we get the news of the death of Leopold, of Belgium. Though advanced in years, his health had been of late so improved that the intelligence is somewhat unexpected.

Leopold was born in Coburg in the year 1790, and was a son of Duke Francis, of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfield. In his nineteenth year he entered the Russian army, but by the influences of Napoleon was soon compelled to relinquish his position. In 1813, however, he rejoined the Emperor Alexander, and took active part in the famous battles of that campaign. He accompanied the Allied Sovereigns to England the subsequent year, and it was on this visit that he made the acquaintance of Princes Charlotte, whom he married two years after. He was made a British field-marshal, and became a member of the Privy Council, was made a Dukc and pensioned with £50,000. He continud to reside in England after the death of his wife, which occurred in 1817. On the division of the Netherlands, in 1831, he was elected King of the Belgians, having previously declined the crown of Greece. In 1862 he married the Princess Louise, the daughter of Louis Phillippe, by whom he had three children—Leopold, who succeeded him, now thirty years old; a second son, the Duke of Flanders; and a daugher, Marie Charlotte, nt as the brother of the Duchess of Kent, he mother of Victoria—and these ties have d him to make frequent visits in England. is relations to his own people and the governments of Europe have continued harmonius during a long reign and through many potical agitations and changes. His administration of government was wise; his court, ithout ostentation, was attractive and even rilliant; his habits of life unaffected and mple. His death will be sincerely lamented ot only by his own subjects but throughout urope. Not only his own devoted subjects ut the States of Europe will sincerely mourn he loss of the long honored old King Leold.

—A writer in the Tribune says "the delious Indian summer—when the voluptuated mind floats on the soft sea of its rosy imaginngs, and it is steeped in the intoxicating perume of its own misgiving—is drawing to a melancholy close."

—None of Governor Corwin's family reached him before he died. He was never conscious since last Friday night, and sank very rapidly until half-past two to-day, when he ceased to breathe. It is supposed that he burst a blood vessel near the brain.

—On Friday of last week, Rev. Bishop Scott, of Deleware, passed through Richmond on his way to Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newberne, North Carolina, accompanied by Rev. Dr. J. L. Laft.

—It is stated that Patrick Fleming, now lying condemned to death in jail at Chicago, has sold his body for $50 to a surgeon, for dissection, in order to enable himself to have a new suit of clothes to be hung in.

—Hon. David G. Burnett, of Ohio, the First President of Texas when it was a Republic, and since that time quite prominent in State politics, is now in New York. He comes on a special mission to President Johnson.

—It is related of Tom Corwin, of Ohio, whose complexion is none of the brightest, that he was asked by one the British capitalists, to whom he was introduced, "whether his tribe was at peace with the whites."

—The Hon. Philip Allen, formerly Governor of Rhode Island; and afterwards United States Senator, died on Saturday at his residence in Providence.

—Honorable B. C. Cooke, of Illinois, has received $120 from company A, of the forty-second colored infantry, as a contribution to the National Lincoln Monument Fund.

—The Louisville Democrat proposes a national convention for the solution of our troubles. The north wanted conventions in 1860, but the south would have none.

—Plenty of new comers flocking into Western Texas. So says the Indianopolis Times. The same paper says the fourth army corps is being mustered out, except three regiments.

—For over nineteen weeks the workmen in the Cramlington colliery, England, have been on a strike. During this time the loss to the colliery proprietors has been over £20,000.

—Steps are being taken in New Orleans, to erect a monument to the memory of Mumford, who was put to death by order of the late Gen. Butler.

—It is said that the beet culture in France now furnishes more than a hundred million pounds of sugar, for human consumption.

—The small-pox is raging among the freedmen in the vicinity of Selma, Ala., and they were not allowed to enter the town.

—Among the funds in the hands of the corporation of London is a sum of two hundred pounds a year left in trust "to burn heretics."

—The State of Mississippi has assumed whatever indebtedness is due the United States under the revenue laws or otherwise.

—There are three thousand applications for lieutenancies in the regular army on file in the War Department.

Neglect of the Legislature.

While the Sentinel newspaper in berating the "radicals" for not admitting unpardoned gentlemen to Congress, it has no word of complaint against the Legislature of this State that refused to comply with the reasonable requirements of the governmen. It was well known that no State would have the shadow of a chance of admission until wholesome and just laws for the protection of freedmen were passed, and yet, after electing the State offices and drawing their pay, the representatives of the people betake themselves to their homes, seemingly indifferent as to the result.

Will the Sentinel copy and endorse the following from the New York Times? It is true, every word of it, and but just, but it will find no place in that paper. The Sentinel and its sympathizers had a majority in the Legislature, and could have passed laws for the protection of the freedmen had they been so disposed, but a lofty dignity which indisposed them to submit to the "yankees" prevented them. Now when the President or Congress shall tell this Legislature that the State cannot get back into the Union until this thing is done, they will do it, but how much better to have done it without waiting to be thus notified.

We hope the Sentinel will copy the following from the Times, and call the prayerful attention of its copperhead readers thereto:

North Carolina—Unworthy Evasion.—The Legislature of North Carolina has adjourned until February. Our dispatch says that no law was passed, nor even proposed, "for the government or protection of the freedmen."—This is to be regretted. No amount of willful blindness can obscure the fact that this very question was, of all others, the one that the North Carolina legislature should have met and disposed of in a broad and liberal spirit.—It was unworthy of them as men, and particularly so as politicians, to dodge this vital issue. The State is full of freedmen; their condition is anomalous and painful, both to themselves and the whites; they are accused of criminal excesses, and their late masters are as loudly accused of persecution; the densely populated negro districts have given a vote almost solid against the candidates supposed to be favorable to the governmental policy of reconstruction; and so preponderant has been that vote that it is now a question if the Administration will not summarily set it aside and continue indefinitely the existing military rule. In this action of the Legislature we see nothing but evil. They failed to settle, and even failed to recognize, the great question of the day, one, too, bearing so directly upon reconstruction that every evasion of it must be set down as a design to embarrass the President and Congress, and postpone, so far as the voting power of North Carolina can do, the wished-for moment of readmission. Before election we had hoped better results in the old North State. Standing in a semi-neutral position between hot-headed South Carolina and pride-driven Virginia, she seemed to be a sort of neutral ground, where there was at least hope that the seeds of Union might fructify; but we fear that the waves of poison from the north and the south have rolled over her barren plains and infected her with all the virus of her neighbors. Certainly the statesmen (if such still exist) of North Carolina cannot expect by lofty disdain to brush from their soil a quarter of million of freedmen, nor can they hope by this ostentatious ignoring of the very question the general government deems most important, to gain consideration in quarters where consideration must ultimately be gained, in order to bring about that reunion for which all good and loyal men are so ardently hoping and striving.

—The residence of Rev. Mr. Converse, editor of the Christian Observer, Richmond was entered on Monday afternoon, between three and four o'clock, while the family were at dinner, and his chamber, which was above the dining-room, was robbed of a trunk, containing $1,000 in greenbacks, $100 in gold, a large quantity of silverware, and a lot of clothing. The thief escaped without observation and no clue has yet been obtained as to his identity or the stolen property. Mr. Converse's residence is on Franklin street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second.

—The Arsenal at Washington was on the 18th the scene of another dreadful explosion, similar to that which occurred at Washington a year ago. Seven persons are reported killed, and several others seriously injured. All were discharged soldiers, employees in the building. The fire companies and the Two Hundred and Fourteenth Pennsylvania Regiment were promptly on hand, and prevented the extension of the fire to the other buildings, several of which were also stored with ammunition.

—A Richmond paper says that a female, genteelly attired, was picked up in the street about 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, helplessly drunk, and carried to the lower station-house. For some time she was too drunk to tell her name; but finally, on becoming a little sobbered, stated that her name was Frances Smith. She professed to have been a married woman, but would not tell her husband's name, for fear it would get in the papers.

—Gold has been found on the shores of Vermilion lake, in Minnesota, about 220 miles north of St. Paul. The lake is bordered by steep hills, the rocks of which are talcose slate of the Silurian era, and these rocks are traversed by numerous veins containing iron and copper pyrites. It is in these veins that the gold has been found. Specimens assayed at the mint in this city have yielded $25.68 in gold and $1.45 in silver to the ton weight of quartz.

—At the recent election held in Colorado there were nineteen hundred and eighteen votes cast in Denver City. That shows a handsome population for a town planted in a spot that was a barren solitude but a few years ago. At the usual ratio of five persons to a voter, this vote would indicate a population of about ten thousand; but it is probably less in Denver—say eight thousand.

—Major General Schofield is in Paris.

STATE ITEMS.

REFORM WANTED.—The Salisbury Banner wants a temperance lecturer to visit that town. This paper says: We earnestly trust that some brilliant fascinating temperance lecturer will make his appearance in our city and endeavor to stay the tide of intemperance which seems to run so strongly. We learn that the police, a few nights since, found eleven men lying drunk on the streets. This vice seems to have increased rather than diminished since the surrender. Can't something be done in the way of moral suasion?

A ROW occured at Wilmington a few days since, between a number of freedmen and the police, the freedmen being finally compelled to retreat. A policeman attempted to arrest negro—negro resisted—was knocked down—and hence the scrimmage.

WE regret to learn that the Small-pox is raging to an alarming extent in Wilmington and that many deaths are occuring. The local editor of the Herald, Mr. Kirkland, died of small-pox. Though it revels principally among the blacks the whites do not escape.

THE Salisbury Banner declines to publish the "list of letters" because it does not pay full rates. Did it never occur to the editor that he gets something from the government in the way of the delivery of exchanges?

The Freedmen's Bureau and Reconstruction.

A Washington dispatch of the 20th says:

"General Howard, superintendent of Freedmen's Affairs, in an elaborate report, makes many recommendations. He says that wherever the planters have taken advantage of the aid afforded by the Bureau, the best results have followed; that the Bureau in conjunction with the military force, is at present a means of encouraging immigration to the different southern states, and that, as nearly $12,000,000 will be required for the expenditures of the Bureau for the next year, he does not feel that the difficult problem given him has been solved, nor does he hope for complete and satisfactory results in the work of the Bureau yet.

He firmly believes that the same just God that conducted us to freedom will so continue to direct us that we shall be able to keep the pledge that we have made that freedom shall be a substantial reality.

Another dispatch of the same date says:

"Carl Schurz's report, made yesterday to the senate, is quite minute, and takes pretty strong ground against the southern people. He differs from General Grant, and is not so much in favor of immediate restoration as General Howard.

THE MEN TO MARRY.—Punch gives some good advice to women in looking for suitable husbands. Among other things, he says:

"The man who don't take tea, ill treats the cat, takes snuff, and stands with his back to the fire, is a brute whom I would not advise you to marry on any consideration, either for love or money, but decidedly not for love.—But the man who, when tea is over, is discovered to have had none, is very sure to make the best husband. Patience like his deserves being rewarded with the best of wives and the best of mother-in-laws. My dears, do your best to marry him. In the severest winter he would not mind going to bed first."

—Mrs. Page, a widowed daughter of Major General Benjamin M. Prentiss, of Quincy, Illinois, committed suicide on the 12th, while at the house of her father. On the morning of that day she appeared sad, and told some of her family that she was going into the back yard, and that the family need not look for her return for some time. The lady not returning for some time, search was instituted, and her lifeless body was found in a cistern near the stables. Some time since General Prentiss and his son were fined $5 each for horsewhipping a young man who was paying attention to this daughter.

—A. T. Stewart, who was a lieutenant-general in the Confederate States army, under General Joseph E. Johnston, has charge of a flourishing school in Memphis, Tennessee. The Memphis Bulletin says: Talking of a general, reminds us that there is another here in the grocery business, of former rank equal to that of Stewart. An ex-major general directs a combination of public carriers. Another, Forrest, whose fame was second to none in the whilom Confederacy, goes into a grocer's establishment. A famous colonel runs a foundry in front of the Gayoso, and another will soon run a railroad.

—The report that General Grant was about to visit the Rio Grande is premature. He will not leave Washington until some decisive congressional action is taken on the matter, unless unforseen contingencies should arise, demanding his immediate presence on the Rio Grande.

—John Overton, of Nashville, has had his pardon confirmed by the President. It was taken away by somebody recently, but Andrew Johnson ordered its restoration.

—The fashion at many of the fairs now, at the north, is to give a prize to the prettiest woman. A premium for modesty would be in better taste.

—Hon. C. Cole, the new United States Senator from California, is a native of Lodi, N. Y., and in 1839 was a member of the House of Representatives.

—The steamer De Soto, bound for New Orleans to Pascagoula, recently exploded her boiler, killing four persons, scalding four others, and wounding the pilot and second mate.

—The Staunton river bridge, on the line of the Richmond and Danville railroad, which was carried away by a freshet some weeks ago, is now sufficiently finished to allow the trains to pass over.

—About seventy clerks have been discharged from the Treasury Department in Washington, within the last few days, some for incompetency, and others because their services were no longer required.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

CHRISTMAS PAPER.—The PROGRESS will be issued on Monday morning as usual, and those who want their advertisements in that day's issue must hand them in to-day or to-morrow. We shall issue no paper on Tuesday morning, but hope to greet our patrons regularly thereafter.

DISTRESSING RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The mail train bound east on the North Carolina railroad, ran off the track near Gilmerton, yesterday, caused by breaking of a wheel of the baggage car, instantly killing Mr. T. A. Watts, Southern Express messenger, and Mr. Owens, baggage master. We did not learn of any other casualities up to the time of going to press.

THANKS TO GEN. HARDIN.—We did not know when making the suggestion that appeared in yesterday's paper that Gen. HARDIN had already issued an order closing all bar rooms from Sunday, December 24th, till January 2nd. The order has already been issued, however, and the following is a copy of it:

HEADQUARTERS DISTRICT OF RALEIGH,
Raleigh, N. C., December 21, 1865.

[CIRCULAR.]

All bar rooms, or places where liquor is sold in less quantities than one gallon, will be closed from six (6) o'clock P. M., on the 24th inst., until six (6) o'clock A. M., on January 2, 1866. It is expected that all members of the civil police, and good law-abiding citizens, will assist in enforcing the foregoing order. Any persons violating this order will meet with the confiscation of all their stock, or other punishment as may be deemed necessary.

By command of Brig. Gen. M. D. HARDIN:
E. P. COULTER,
Lieut. and A. D. C. and A. A. A. G.

This is right, and as those engaged in the business must feel the same interest in the preservation of order that other citizens do, we call upon them to yield obedience to the above order. Shut not only the front but the back doors, and keep them closed; and shut them against all persons. And let the police and guard look around the suburbs and see that the shops kept by freedmen, for the sale of liquor, are also closed. If there are dangers to be met let us meet them in a sober condition. The fact is the retail liquor traffic has been greatly prostituted in this city, and it should be regulated or abolished. We trust that confiscation of stock will be promptly applied for violations of above order.

THE police were doing a good business last night, the guard house being pretty well filled before 9 o'clock. Passing there just before 9 we heard singing and dancing, and on enquiry were told it proceeded from the newly caged. The great want of this town is the vigilant application of a vagrant act. Make all street loungers show how they get their living.

ONE grand tournament will take place at Nash Square in this city of Raleigh, on the 25th of December next ensuing, at which at least five hundred knights of this and the adjoining States are expected to be present and contend for the honors, and at least half that number of "maids of honor" will be crowned. And may the affair be crowned with success. "See small bills."

HEAVY ROBBERY.—On Thursday night a blacksmith shop in the eastern part of the city, was broken into and an anvil, a vice and a log chain stolen. Subsequently a part of the property was recovered and the supposed thief was arrested. The freedman is in the lock up for investigation. This is one of the heaviest thefts of the season.

CARRIER'S ADDRESS.—The Carriers of the PROGRESS will wait on the patrons of the paper on Monday morning, and we trust their past faithful services will be liberally rewarded.—A small pittance from each will cheer them on the festive occasion and enable them to enter on the new year with light hearts.

THE LADIES FAIR at the Senate Chamber opened brilliantly last night. Citizens will remember that it continues to-night and that the attractions will increase rather than diminish. Go early and carry a pocket full of greenbacks.

YESTERDAY was probably the coldest day of the season, though the atmosphere was pure and invigorating. Fine weather for oysters and hot whiskey.

LET it be remembered that after the 1st of January no advertisement will be inserted in the PROGRESS unless it be paid for in advance. This will apply to all save those business men who advertise by the year.

—In the South Carolina Legislature, the other day, Mr. John Harleston Reid, of Georgetown, offered a resolution in the House looking to the revival of time-honored custom arraying the Speaker in the garb of office, which is the parliamentary blue gown. It has been the custom in South Carolina from her birth as a State, and ceased only when the approach of Sherman's army endangered the safety of the robe, which, for security sake, was removed to the country.

—The funeral of the late Governor Corwin took place on the 20th. Among the pall-bearers were Chief Justice Chase, Lieutenant-General Grant, Hon. W. H. Seward, Hon. Reverdy Johnson, Hon. Thaddeus Stephens, and other prominent and distinguished individuals.

—A number of persons, among the wealthiest citizens of Mobile, left there a few days ago to settle in Brazil.

—Duels between Italian journalists have become so common that the directors, moved by the scandal to their order, have formed a "jury of honor," to which all disputes between writers for the press may be referred and settled without bloodshed.

—Brigham Young is indeed a pillar of Salt Lake. His idea of a wife is—Lot.

THE WOMEN AND HER WIFE, and grown up daughters, are transitions on our paths. They declare unreservedly that Hostetter's is a blessing to their mouths, that it improves and preserves their youth, invigorates their gums and sweetens every breath they draw. Hence they buy it. As Mountain Sanspoint says; the sales are pro-di-gious.

 The contributions of foreign petitioners pay the a poor compliment to the capacity and taste of American ladies, if they expect them to buy their skeletons "a la Grecian," when Florida's "Night Blooming Cereus" is the finest article of the kind in any country—to obtainable everywhere.

THE CASH SYSTEM.

Necessity compels us to return to the cash system, which we shall do on and after the 1st day of January, 1866. After that date no name will be entered on our books without the money in advance, and all who are now receiving the paper and do not settle up what is due and pay in advance, will have their names stricken off.—The fact that gentlemen are good for small bills will not pay our heavy expenses, which must be met promptly.—Those who want the paper are willing to pay for it, and we do not desire that any should have it who do not want it.

We shall also, after that date, demand cash for all job printing and advertising, and no orders will be filled unless the money accompanies them. This will apply to all, without exception, save those of our patrons in the city that pay promptly when called on.

"The Policy of the South."

Under this head we publish in this issue an article from the Albany Evening Journal, which we doubt not but reflects the sentiments of the great mass of the people at the north. On the surrender of our armies it was expected, from the fact that it had been urged during the progress of the rebellion that there was a strong Union element at the south, that whatever was necessary to be done, by us, to secure again the protection of the general government, would be promptly and cheerfully done. It was expected that the seceded States would promptly and voluntarily repudiate all rebel debts, declare the ordinances of secession null and void, ratify the constitutional amendment, declare slavery forever abolished, and pass laws placing the freedmen on an equality with all other persons as far as the rights of property and personal protection were concerned. These things the government and the people of the loyal States expected to be done and they had a right to expect that they would be done voluntarily. But how has it been, and why is it that the work of reconstruction hangs fire? Simply because the old secession leaders that have crept into the State Conventions and Legislatures have clogged the work of restoration by their dogged perverseness and indisposition to accept the issues of the war as final.

As to the matter of the rebel State debt, it is well known it would not have been touched by the North Carolina State Convention but for the assurance from the President, on the eve of adjournment, that the State would have no chance of admission without it. And the constitutional amendment was left by that body untouched, and the Legislature would probably have left it to sleep but for another reminder from the President that unless it be ratified the State could not be admitted.

Now all this is the result of filling our Conventions and State Legislatures with men who led in the movement to take the State out of Union and commence the war, and who cannot yet see anything wrong in secession but its failure. It is not the "yankees," or the north, not the "radicals," we of the south are called on to submit to, but the United States government—our government—the national government: a government that belongs as much to the people of one section as of the other, and one which it is the duty of the whole people to obey, protect and defend. Those who at present control the government only desire that we should obey the same laws and comply with the same conditions that apply to them. Why not do it? why not do it voluntarily, cheerfully?

The people of the south are ready to accept the conditions of the government and reconstruct, but the secession leaders that have crept into our legislative bodies have retarded the work by their perverseness. If the Congress of the United States will admit the States and reject such persons as cannot take the test oath, from that body, we can soon complete the work of the restoration of the Union. We know there are many loyal, good men who cannot take the oath, and should regret their rejection, but the people have too much at stake to delay the restoration of the Union on their account. From the first we have advocated a prompt and cheerful compliance with the requirements of the government in the matter of restoration, and the complications and difficulties which have arisen have strengthened our convictions that we are right.

THE Sentinel of yesterday complains of the Press dispatches sent from this city, and gives us a homily of about a half column in reference to the matter. The Editor of this paper is the author of the Press dispatches sent from this city and is responsible for them. The Editor of the Sentinel objected to our acting as such on account of his vindictive prejudices, but the President of the Association and the two principal agents, Messrs. GOBRIGHT and PRITCHARD, requested us to continue, and we have done so; and we are pleased to be able to say to the Sentinel that we have a letter from Mr. GOBRIGHT, written on the 16th instant, thanking us for "valuable services." Mr. GOBRIGHT, however, is not a copperhead.

The Sentinel objects to members of the press acting as agents. Elsewhere no one else is chosen. We do not expect or desire that our dispatches will please the Sentinel editor, for if they pleased him they would not satisfy us.

The Sentinel calls upon somebody to prosecute the Standard and Progress for damages.—Sentinel.

Yes, resuscitate your conscript bureau, restore your court of star chamber, and prosecute. Had the Sentinel and its sympathizers the power in North Carolina they would not only prosecute but suppress the Standard and PROGRESS, and exterminate loyal men. But thank God their reign is at an end.

—A Washington dispatch says that the President has ordered Governor Holden to prohibit the sheriffs of North Carolina from executing the provisions of the revenue law passed by the State Convention, which levies taxes on business transacted as far back as January 1, 1865, when a large portion of the State was within our mility lines, and all business was subjected to military taxes.

—Gov. Curtin arrived in Havana on the 10th inst., his health and spirits much improved by the voyage.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

The tone of a number of the State papers has improved very much within the last week or two, and in spreading their thoughts before the world we feel that we have done the State some service."

The Wilmington Dispatch is still amusing its readers with the "record" of the Provisional Governor, but the tone is mild the style very tame.

The Charlotte Times has but little to say, but that little indicates an improved temper.

The Goldsboro' News is devoting itself to short editorials and editorial chronicles of the diarrhœa order.

The Wilmington Journal counsels forbearance and charity.

The Sentinel, of this city, continues its tune on the harp of a thousand strings—"Progress, Standard—Standard, Progress." We trust the good cheer of Christmas will relieve our venerable cotemporary, who arrogates to himself the right to sit in judgment on the respectability of his equals, of bile, and enable him to practice those christian virtues and exercise that charity that he enjoins upon others. If he will cleanse himself the world will look brighter to him.

THE Standard of yesterday administers a severe castigation to those twin brothers, the copperhead Sentinels of Richmond and Raleigh. It shows that the Raleigh Sentinel is in full communion with the enemies of the government and that it favored the assumption and payment of the rebel State debt; and that the Richmond Sentinel is the same that fiddled for DAVIS and helped to have Union men and women persecuted, in this State, during the rebellion.

The Salisbury Banner, under the head of "Let us be Patient," argues that—

"There never was a time when a people were called upon, so forcibly as the present, to exercise patience, forbearance and fortitude. Let us bear and forbear. It is worse than idle to indulge in criminations and heart-burnings over either the past or the present; but in the eloquent language, so appositely adopted by Brother Cole as his motto, let us march forth into the dim and shadowy future without fear, and with a manly heart. Our application for admission into full communion with our sister States has been made. It behooves us to wait a time with patience until the answer come. Let us remember that Messrs. Sumner and Wilson, though possessing high abilities, are not either the whole north or the whole congress.

What reason had we to expect members to be admitted to seats who could not comply with the law? On the contrary, we had the whole press of the north and their leading public men, declaring time and again, that the test oath would be enforced. We had every reason to believe also that the election of Gov. Holden would have been hailed as an auspicious event. We failed to come up to the terms which, without being written down in tolidem verbis, were as equally well understood, or should have been. Then why complain, or if complain, why not direct the complaints in the right direction? We shall not attempt to feed the public on that wishy-washy stuff—that milk-and-water philosophy which answers all difficulties by that grand "specific," that everything happens for the best, but we will say to our friends in the old homely adage, "don't kick till you are spurred." It is not all settled yet, and if you didn't support Gov. Holden, at least take the advice he used to urge so ardently in the winter of 1860-'61, "watch and wait."

The north are a religious people, and although they were greatly aroused at what they conceive to have been an attempt on our part to break up, without cause, a common government, yet if these feelings are not continually stirred up and kept alive, by intemperate and inconsiderate taunts, coming from among us, the sober second thought will come; the teachings of our holy religion will knock at their hearts, and ere long, charitable and then friendly and kindly feelings will spring up. Give the victor cooling time. They are not Scandinavians or Turks, or Arabs or Chinese, but Anglo-Saxons, with ourselves. We do not believe that they either intend or desire to oppress or ruin us, but they may wish to put us on a longer probation than they would have done, had we listened to their admonitions. The more we gnash our teeth and fret and fume over the matter, the more confirmed will they become in their present impressions. Many of our people advocate this idea and think it meets every difficulty that might be urged: namely: "we have taken the Amnesty Oath." The northman replies, yes, but those of you who had taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States broke it, so what does an oath signify? The North views the war from one stand-point and the South from an altogether different one. The one says you are a traitor—the other disclaims ever having committed that crime. Who is to decide? Practically, the victor. But when you cease to indulge in useless repinings, injudicious criticisms and uncalled-for sneers, the northman's sympathy will begin to be aroused. He will open himself to conviction and may make concessions at which your surprise will only equal your gratification. But he must do it in his own good time, not at your bidding. You cannot expedite, but may seriously retard such a happy result, by grumbling and snarling—by too much talking "out of the mouth."

And after "Patience," then "Harmony."—The Wilmington Herald, under the head of "Harmony," being inspired no doubt by the "holy season" approaching, pours oil on the water thus:

"We are now approaching the holiday season. We are in the midst of the season when fairs, concerts, festivals and entertainments of a benevolent nature do most abound. This may be called the season of good fellowship and harmony. It is appropriately so called, It is the season that commemorates in the calendar of the Christian church the coming of Christ to be the Saviour of the world. It is peculiarly, therefore, the season when we should bury old prejudices and all ill-feeling, and, actuated by a spirit of good will to all men, seek to inaugurate that good fellowship and brotherly kindness without which communities have no attractions, and neighborhoods are to be avoided rather than desired.

"It will have been observed by everybody that in this, as in many others, if not all, of the communities in the south, there exists anything but a brotherly spirit. Since the war many northern people have removed to this region. They have forfeited their political and social positions in the north to come here and assist in the good work of restoring the broken fortunes of the south. They bring with them enterprise, energy, capital and a determination to succeed despite all obstacles. But it is not expected that these people will consent to consider themselves expatriated by reason of their emigration thitherward. They have come here with a spirit of good will towards all men, and have invested their money here. Their capital is bringing activity and industry to our town. Shall they not, then, be admitted to a voice in the adjustment of our affairs? Certainly they expect to have that voice, and certainly the voice of the country grants them the right to [illegible]

"Socially all this is another matter. If those who have established a residence here do not desire to admit these people to social relations that is their matter. They have the privilege of rejecting them. But so long as the new comers manifest a disposition that is worthy of respect, and a demeanor that is not at variance with our ideas of good breeding, there can be no good reason why our doors should be closed against them.

"Therefore we urge that this holiday season—this season that commemorates so many glad events in the history of our race—this season so expressly devoted to good feeling, hilarity and enjoyment—this peculiar season ought to witness a termination of all bitterness and a return of "peace on earth and good will to all men." Let us take all men for what they are worth, forgetting their nativity. Let us bury sectional hate and animosity, and as citizens of a common country make this holiday season the period of the restoration of our social as well as political relations with the country at large and all its people."

And the Wilmington Journal, counselling the brethren to be of one mind, taking for its caption "A Needful Disposition," says:

"It must be a source of regret to every southern citizen, that there does not exist among us a greater amount of unanamity of opinion as to the proper mode of action at this particular and critical period in our history. We cannot help believing that our leading men in public affairs have too little forbearance with each other, in many instances evincing a self-will too dogmatic for gentlemen in pursuit of the public good. When differences of opinion exist upon the weighty matters which affect the public weal, wisdom would seem to indicate the necessity of judicious concession and compromise. No one will expect that all men in a State will think alike, or that oppositions and contentions will not occur. But the asperity of these antagonisms may be greatly mitigated by temperate and well disposed discussions; and if this discussion be entered upon with an honest purpose really to seek the greatest good of the people, the result will seldom fail of the most beneficial and greatful fruit.

"Now, in our humble opinion, if there was ever a time in our history when this spirit of sober moderation and careful looking after the right course to be pursued, should actuate and govern our public men, that exact time is the immediate present. If it were possible that such a state of things could exist, no jarring or discordant difference of opinion and action would be known amongst us at this big and vital crisis—a crisis, upon the harmonious and peaceful adjustment of the affairs of which may depend, for a long time to come, our existence as a self-governing and independent State. Shattered in fortune—decimated in population—and reduced from the dignity and importance of a sovereign State, to the subjected condition of a mere province or dependency, by the fortunes of war—we should certainly take advantage, as far as our self-respect as men will permit us to do so, of every offer of the authority which holds our destiny in its hands, to reinstate us in our independence and original sovereignity. In this great work of reconstruction, however, we, as well as those who mainly control the matter, have our part of the transaction to perform. This, to a great extent, we believe, we have already done; and but for a difference of opinion among ourselves—an apparent suicidal determination not to join hands for the general good—and a persistent course of questionable representation of the honesty of purpose of one party by the other—we should this day have been back in the Union, fully rehabilitated in all our sovereign rights and privileges.

"How long this state of things—fatal to our hopes and destructive to our best interests—may contiue, we of course, are unable to say. We may be allowed, however, to express the hope, that it will be of short duration. A wise regard for ourselves urges us to use every means in our power to make it as brief as possible."

[From the Albany Evening Journal.]

The Policy of the South.

Those who at present control the politics and local legislation of the Southern States, act as if determined to postpone their reorganization to the latest possible moment,—or, at least, to seek no favors from the National Legislature as a reward for good behavior and patriotic compliance with Government policy.

There is a marked desire in Congress to hasten the composition of affairs with those who have been in rebellion, and remove at the earliest possible moment all the auxiliaries of federal domination. The legislation of last winter uniformly looked in this direction. During the two working days of the present session, no opinion has been expressed and no action taken unfavorable to a speedy return of the normal civil condition at the South, if the South is shown to be in a state which will render perfect reorganization feasible. It is impossible to conceive of a sentiment more generous, or less tinctured by the passion of hate and desire for vengeance, than that with which a great majority of the people, and of their official representatives, regard those who have been vanquished in the armed arbitrament of battle. As was well remarked a few days since, by the Richmond Republic "the north seems more desirous than the south, to hasten reconstruction."

But it would be the extreme of folly and judicial blindness to permit a return of political power into the hands of those who have so lately been malignant enemies of the Republic, unaccompanied by securities for future good behavior. The north, which has suffered so much in conflict with the unwholesome systems of the slave states, must be assured that institutions so prolific of evil have ceased to exist. It cannot justify or tolerate a revival in any form of those pernicious heresies in reference either to slavery or to state rights, which have borne such bitter fruits in the past. There must be, not merely the promise of loyalty, but its sufficient proof, in the form of action by loyally-constuted authorities of the several States.

What are the facts exhibited by a review of the field? Virginia, which already had a government in organized condition when Lee's army surrendered, has had two Legislative meetings and a general election since that event. In the Legislature a dominant spirit of opposition to the Federal government is constantly manifested. A majority of its lately chosen members have been in the rebel service, and glory in their shame. The wise and patriotic suggestions of the President are treated with impudent scorn. At a session on Friday, one chivalrous gentleman remarked in reference to the supposed opinion of Mr. Johnson, that "he did not care what that opinion was; he thought the great state of Virginia had truckled to the Washington authorities about long enough;" and the expression was received with applause. A bill has been passed, removing disabilities from rebels, and repealing that provision which requires officers elected under the state to swear fealty to the Union. Another measure proposes the removal of all the officers appointed by Gov. Pierpont—nominal Union men, whose places of course will be supplied by those who are more in sympathy with intense pro-southern sentiment. So of the popular expressions. Every candidate who ran for Congress as a Unionist was defeated—not one being chosen who could take the oath required as a test of loyalty and a condition precedent to admission upon the floors of Congress. Two elections have taken place in Richmond, and the results of both were such that the President—much as he is by nature and education opposed to such policy—felt called upon to interfere and annul the declared returns. On [illegible] important subjects of legislation the United States stands as speechless, and tasting [illegible] Virginia has refused to take a single step in the right direction, though earnestly and repeatedly entreated to do so by Mr. Johnson.

North Carolina—which was often represented during the war as being largely pervaded by Union sentiment—presents a record little more favorable. Under the pressure of what may be called Presidential orders, her Legislature, elected by call of Provisional Governor Holden, has adopted the constitutional amendment and repudiated the rebel state debt.—But in an election where the lines were clearly drawn, Mr. Holden was defeated as a candidate for Governor, on account of his moderate Unionism and his relations to the Federal Administration; the successful candidate, Worth, who was run by original secessionists, receiving a majority of six thousand seven hundred votes. Not a Congressman has been chosen in North Carolina, who possesses the qualifications demanded by law. The Legislature gave a striking evidence of its spirit, by asking a pardon of the infamous traitor, Zebulon B. Vance, who, as a Rebel Governor of the State—was distinguished for his remorseless and unrelenting bitterness towards all loyal men.

South Carolina has made some important advances. James L. Orr, her newly-elected Governor, acts and talks like an honestly-loyal man: albeit he has weakened his position by foolishly declairing in favor of an obligation upon the nation to compensate those whose slaves have been emancipated by the fortunes of war. The legislature has adopted the constitutional amendment, and invalidated the Rebel debt. But, here again, we find the old leaven at work. A long stept backward is taken, in the enactment of what really is a slave code, designed to neutralize the effects of abolition, and hold the blacks in a system of vassalage even more oppressive than that from which they have been liberated. So long as this infamous ordainment remains upon her statue books, South Carolina has no claim to make upon the nation which can be granted without exhibiting weakness and inviting danger.

Kentucky is only partially loyal because entirely under military domination. The "neutrality" of this States proves even more obstinate than the outright rebellion of South Carolina. The Legislature has already once rejected the constitutional amendment, and even now refuses to adopt it, notwithstanding the direct request of the President, the recommendation of Governor Bramlette, and a decission by the Supreme court of the State that slavery has ceased to exist. This course is all the more objectionable, from the fact that Kentucky has a congressional representation, and has been recognized in the Union.

Mississippi has declined to adopt the constitutional amendment, or to recognize the status of the negro in court—her Legislature adding to its other significant acts a petition for the full pardon of Jefferson Davis. Louisiana has taken a similar course, and like South Carolina, has enacted a slave code "for the government of the freedmen." Last week, her Legislature resolved the free state Senators, Hahn and Cutler, out of office, and elected in their stead two men who have been rabid rebels.

It is upon evidences such as these, the majority of Congress are warranted in the measure of wise precaution they have adopted. If the south will have recognition, let it prove itself not unworthy of the favor. So long as its legislatures by their acts, and its people by their votes, show that the spirit of rebellion still dominates among them—only partially repressed by military conquest, and by the presence of a power adequate to control—patriotism and wisdom alike require that they shall be held to the consequences of their treason and revolt, at least so far as to incapacitate them for further mischief.

Hon. George Davis.

The Wilmington papers publish the following letter from Mr. Davis:

FORT LAFAYETTE, NEW YORK HARBOR,
November 30, 1865.

Hon. JOHN DAWSON, Mayor:

Sir:—A friend has sent me a copy of the Wilmington Herald containing the proceedings of a meeting of the citizens of Wilmington, held on the 22d instant, for the purpose of taking measures to memorialize the President of the United States, for the exercise of the Executive clemency in my behalf.

Believe me, sir, I am profoundly touched by this proof of the kind remembrances and esteem of my friends at home—of those who have known me longest and best, and that it was their own spontaneous action, unsolicited and even unknown by me, makes it doubly gratifying.

I beg, through you, to tender to the citizens of Wilmington, a feeble expression of my warm appreciation and grateful acknowledgement of their kindness, and of my earnest hope for their welfare and prosperity.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
[Signed] GEO. DAVIS.

—Hon. Thomas Corwin, of Ohio, died at Washington on the 18th. He was elected to the Legislature of Ohio in 1831, and in the same year was chosen a representative to Congress from the Warren district. He held his position until 1840, when he was chosen Governor of Ohio. In 1846 he was elected to the United States Senate, where he remained till 1850, when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury under Millard Fillmore. He was again sent to Congress from Ohio in 1858; and made Minister Plenipotentiary to Mexico during the first year of the administration of President Lincoln.

—A puzzling phenomenon is exercising the citizens of Auburn and Lewiston, Me. The windows and doors of many houses have lately betaken themselves to rattling, with intermissions of silence and with variations in degree of the noise. What is the cause? is the question.

—At a Sabbath school meeting in New Hampshire the history of Samson was the subject of examination. "What foolish things did Sampson do?" was one of the questions put. A little one replied: "He went down among the Phillistines and got a wife."

—The small-pox has made its appearance in its most alarming form in Menard county, Illinois, and the greatest consternation is felt among the citizens. Forty cases are reported in Athens alone, a villages of about 200 inhabitants.

—The Philadelphia Presbytery has adopted a resolution denouncing the publication of Sunday newspapers as a desecration of the Sabbath, and calling on christian public to abstain from reading or buying them.

—So scarce are houses in Galveston that frames ready to put up have been ordered from the north.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for non-retention or incontinence of Urine, Irritation, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Bladder, Kidneys, disease of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel or Brick Dust Deposit, and diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys and Dropsical Swellings.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU FOR WEAKNESS ARISING FROM EXCESSES OR INDISCRETION.

The constitution once affected by Organic Weakness requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which Helmbold's Extract Buchu invariably does. If no treatment be submitted to, consumption or insanity may ensue.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

in affections peculiar to females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularities, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulceration or Scirrhous state of the Uteras, Leucorrhœa, and all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from habits of dissipation, imprudencies, or in the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH, will radically exterminate from the system diseases of the urinary organs arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, and no exposure, completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiba and Mercury, in curing those unpleasant and dangerous diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

in all cases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that however slight may be the attack of the above disease, it is sure to affect his posterity. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources.

PHYSICIANS, PLEASE NOTICE!

We make no secret of the ingredients. Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs, Juniper Berries, selected with great care, and prepared in vacuo by H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist and Chemist of sixteen years' experience in the city of Philadelphia, and which is now prescribed by the most eminent physicians, has been admitted to use in the United States army, and is also in very general use in State Hospitals and public Sanitary Institutions throughout the land.

Raleigh, December 5, 1865.

NEVER GIVE UP.—The following account of the pursuit of a partner under difficulties is related by Southey as being literally true.—It pointedly illustrates the advantages of persevering: "A gentleman being in want of a wife, advertised for one, and at the time and place appointed was met by a lady. Their situations in life enabled them to be so called, and the gentleman as well as the lady was in earnest. He, however, unluckily, seemed to be of the same opinion as King Pedro was with regard to his wife, Queen Mary of Arragon—that she was not as handsome as she might be good—and the meeting ended in their mutual disappointment. He advertised a second time, appointing a different square for a place of meeting, and varying the words of the advertisement. He met the same lady, they recognized each other, could not choose but smile at the recognition, and perhaps neither of them could choose but sigh. You will anticipate the event. The persevering bachelor tried his lot a third time in the newspapers, and at the third place of appointment met the equally persevering spinster. At this meeting neither could help laughing. They began to converse in good humor, and the conversation became so agreeable on both sides, and the circumstance appeared so remarkable, that this third interview led to the marriage, and the marriage proved a happy one."

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE ENTERPRISE.

As soon as practicable, I shall commence, in the city of Raleigh, the publication of a Weekly Family Newspaper, to be a means of communication for christian gentleman and ladies. Its columns will be open for Moral and Literary articles especially, and also for such advertisements as become a first class Family Journal. It is to be the organ of myself and my friends. I may say that I have not been largely solicited to commence the ENTERPRISE, my friends not knowing that I desired to become Editor. I am bound by no party or denominational influences, but desire the Enterprise to be fully dedicated to

"EVERY GOOD WORD AND WORK."

The man who is most useful to himself, is, in the largest sense, most useful to mankind; hence, I ask you to help me, because I shall then be the better able to help you.—God men ought to subscribe to the Enterprise, because it will aid the Editor; and bad men ought to subscribe for the same good reason.

On the first issue, I shall take means at once to place the Enterprise on the tables of Ten Thousand Families in North Carolina.

TERMS:

For six months.....2 00

Send your subscriptions at once per mail, as I have no special agents.

BURNING OF THE MUSEUM.

LETTER FROM MR. P. T. BARNUM.

NEW YORK, July 14, 1865.

Messrs. Herring & Co.:

GENTLEMEN: Though the destruction of the American Museum has proved a serious loss to myself and the public, I am happy to verify the old adage that "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," and, consequently, congratulate you that your well known safes have again demonstrated their superior fireproof qualities in an ordeal of unusual severity.

The safe you made for me some time ago was in the office of the Museum, on the second floor, back part of the building, and in the hottest of the fire.

After twenty-four hours of trial it was found among the debris, and on opening it this day, has yielded up its contents in very good order—books, papers, policies of insurance, bank bills, all in condition for immediate use, and a noble commentary on the trustworthiness of Herring's Fireproof Safes.

Truly yours,

P. T. BARNUM.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1865.

THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.—The following is the resolution proposing another amendment to the Federal Constitution, adopted in the House of Representatives on Tuesday:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, two-thirds of each House concurring therein, That the following article be proposed to the Legislature of the several States as an amendment to the constitution, which when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of said constitution.

ARTICLE 1. No tax, duty or import shall be laid, nor shall any appropriation of money be made, either by the United States, or any one thereof, for the purpose of paying, either in whole or in part, any debt, contract or liability whatever incurred, made or suffered by any one of the States, or the people thereof, for the purpose of aiding a rebellion against the constitution and laws of the United States.

—"Do you belong to the church, sir?" inquired a gentleman to a friend, who was one of the heavy men of the town where the other was visiting, and who seemed much interested in the church where they had just been attending. "No, sir," replied the rich man, "quite the reverse, for the church belongs to me."

—It has been ordered at Moscow that, in all public buildings, the doors of the main entrances shall open outward, instead of inward, as heretofore. The reason of this arrangement is to enable people to have free egress in the event of any accident or panic occurring.

NOTICE.

The General Agent of the

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Would respectfully ask the attention of every citizen to the following communication, and if duty and interest dictate anything, it is action. This established company issued 903 policies in November last.

The first stone in the structure of life insurance was laid by the hand of the Almighty when he planted in the human heart the generous impulse of love and affection, which prompt us to provide for our own; but the keystone in this law of average to secure which we bind ourselves together to bear each other's burdens, the stronger and richer, as the longer lives must be helping the weaker and poorer brother that is cut down in earlier life, and by the universal law of compensation it gives us either the blessings of a long life, or the pleasing assurance of leaving a competency to our loved ones, as the flims of death are curtaining them from our sight forever.

Times like the present make most manifest the peculiar benefit of life insurance. Business is interrupted. Men are axious for the future. Thousands have families growing up around them whose property depends upon the continuance of the father's life. Should he die, the income would cease; the child-ren must be withdrawn from school; the mother and elder children must resort to every expedient to sustain the family; and, in many cases with the utmost exertion, this can not be done; the wife will return to her father for support, and the children, separated, must go, the older to seek work, and the younger be distributed among friends. Such reverses befall men the least expecting them. While business is active, and prosperity gives exhilaration and hope, men can hardly be made to feel that they are within a hand's breath of utter reverse, and that their families may be scattered in a month, by the death of the father. But hard times lead men to think of these things.

Now if a man has insured a sum of one, five or ten thousand dollars upon his life, this anxiety is removed.—While he lives, he can support his family. If he dies, ample provision is made for them.

It is every man's duty to provide for his family. That provision must include its contingent condition. That provision, so far as it is material, men ordinarily seek to secure by their own accumulations and investments. But all these are uncertain. The man rich to-day, is, from causes beyond his reach, poor to-morrow. A war in China, a revolution in Europe, a rebellion in America, overrule ten thousand fortunes in every commercial community. But, in life insurance there are no risks or contingencies. Other investments may fail. A house may burn down. Banks may break. Bonds and mortgages may be seized for debt, and all property may fall into the bottomless gulf of bankruptcy. But money secured to your family by life insurance, will go to them without fail or interruption, provided you have selected a sound and honorable insurance company. Of two courses, one of which may leave your family destitute, and the other of which assures them a comfortable support at your decease, can there be a doubt which is to be chosen?

The benefits of life insurance are not confined to a provision for families, but are as numerous as the various circumstances of individuals. It enables a person to make a provision for a wife, a parent, a child, a friend or domestic, depending on him, and he lives secure, that while his industry is providing for their support, his savings are effectually guarding them against want in the event of his whole duty toward them instead of only one half of it.

It enables a person to raise money on loans where real security cannot be offered, to provide for the prompt payment of his debts in the case of his death, and to secure the eventual payment of doubtful debts.

By it a charitable individual may donate a legacy to some beneficent institution; or a congregation a support to their minister's family in case of his death.

It provides means to reimburse the sum expended in the purchase of any life estate, on the death of the person during whose life it is held; to remove incumbrances, payable on events connected with the termination of life; and secures the return of money paid for education, for capital embarked in business, or other advances made for children or others, in the event of their premature death; and, generally, it affords a certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss whatever, to which one individual may become subject, by reason of the death of another.

It is a subject, then, which concerns the poor as well as the rich, the man living on his income, the mechanic, the farmer, the professional man, the merchant—in short all classes of the community.

Surely, such an institution deserves the countenance, the consideration and support of all reflecting men, and is doubly recommended, when it is considered how very small a sacrifice of some personal gratification, will secure, by its means, the independence and happiness of a family.

W. H. CROW, Gen'l Agent.

W. B. GULICK, Local Agent for the Ætna Life Insurance Company. Takes risks from the age of 14 to 65.
